

RULES & EXPECTATIONS FOR EDUCATIONAL SERIES

- A release of information must be signed so that information can be released to the court.
- Pay a registration fee, which will be used as payment for last group session. If for any reason you do not complete group this registration fee is non-refundable.
- Final reports will not be released unless all payments are made in full.
- Your group session rate will be charged if you do not give a minimum of 24 hour notice for cancellations. (Voice mail is on whenever office is closed and you can leave a message, which we can get date and time from)
- No admittance to group if you are later than 5 minutes after the group start time. You will have to make up the group session the next time around.
- Courts will be notified if you miss initial group session.
- Court will be notified if 2 group sessions are missed.
- If 2 sessions are missed you must start the series over. If you miss one session it must be made up the next series or you must start over.
- If you are under the influence of any mood altering substance you will be asked to leave group for the week. You will be allowed to return the next week and make up the group you were asked to leave.
- If you come to group twice under the influence you will be discharged from group and your probation officer will be notified.
- Participation and appropriate behavior during group is required

I have read and understand the above rules and expectations for group sessions.
